Abu Dhabi-based International Holding, which has invested almost $2 billion in Adani companies, does not plan to take part in any potential share sales, IHC's spokesman told Bloomberg two days ago, Adani

Group companies are executing large-scale projects across infrastructure and utility space, including adding capacity at its cement business, and need cash flows for these. The firm was also in talks to raise about $800 million for new green energy projects. The group had earlier received financial assuances from three Japanese banks - Mitsubishi UFJ Financial Group, Sumitomo Mitsui Banking and Mizuho Financial Group - which include loans for new projects and refinancing of high-cost debts. The existing lenders, including Standard Chartered and Barclays, had also reaffirmed their confidence in the group's operations. The group's debt as of March 31, 2023, stood at ₹2.27 trillion, of which 39% was in bonds, 29% loans from international banks and 32% with Indian banks and NBFCs. The gross value of the

Be it compact or micro, it's the SUV that matters

The Punch has shown that micro SUVs serve a very important function, that of pulling buyers from two-wheelers to four-wheelers. Gauva Vangal, associate director, Light Vehicle Forecasting, S&P Global Mobility, told FE. "Unlike some entry-level hatchbacks, these are very aspirational and relatively affordable." For example, while Tata's sub-4 metre compact SUV Nexon is priced starting at ₹5.99 lakh (ex-showroom), the Punch starts at ₹5.99 lakh, closer to hatchbacks like Maruti Suzuki Celerio (₹5.36 lakh). Saket Mehra, partner & Auto Sector leader at Grant Thornton Bharat, added that as the key demographic of vehicle owners becomes younger and more affluent, their aspirational needs have increased. "The hybrid work model, which has evolved into work from anywhere, and a plethora of flexible work options, has increased short-distance trips, especially among the millennials and Gen-Z age groups," he said. However, despite the success of the Punch and the anticipated success of the Exter, don't expect all other carmakers to follow a similar path. The engineering head of a leading carmaker told FE that not all carmakers will invest hundreds of crores of rupees in developing all-new micro SUVs. "Developing a micro SUV ground-up is an engineering challenge, and very expensive." Some carmakers take an evolutionary route of a few features from a sub-4 metre SUV and price it in the micro SUV range. That's what Nissan and Renault have done with the Magnite (3,994 mm, ₹5.99 lakh onward) and the Kiger (3,951 mm, ₹6.5 lakh onward), respectively. "Some carmakers take an evolutionary route, that of branding and marketing a hatchback as a micro SUV," said an analyst on the condition of anonymity. "Maruti Suzuki, for example, markets the Ignis as a 'compact urban SUV'."

said JioCinema will have to beef up its content if it wishes to have a meaningful base of paid subscribers. For instance, rival Disney+ Hotstar is already feeling the pinch of a dearth of content, as it has to pay for the exit of IPL from the platform and the recent break-up with Warner Bros Discovery. Disney+ Hotstar reported an 8% sequential drop in paid subscribers in the January-March period, its biggest decline to date, to touch 52.9 million users versus the December 2022 quarter's 57.5 million users. Its latest results showed "Indian audiences are HBO- and Warner Bros content only. JioCinema will have to increase its paid content over time to attract subscribers," Taurani said. Experts said Viacom18 is already at work here, with the management in talks with various production studios, besides plans to introduce TV shows and movies on the platform in the coming months in Hindi and other languages.

Brands expand retail footprint with online D2C arms

DaburShop has recently been launched with a limited assortment of products and we are working on progressively increasing the range. This will become a one-stop shop of the entire Dabur range, including ayurvedic medicines. With DaburShop, we are offering 100 exclusive brands on pin codes within 24-72 hours and are working on progressively increasing coverage across towns," said Malhotra. As per a report by investment firm Avenue Capital, the online D2C segment is expected to have $1.00 billion addressable market by 2025. India is one of the largest retail markets in the world, projected to surpass $1.7 trillion by 2025 and has added 80 million online shoppers in the past three years alone to reach 130 million. Department store chain Shoppers Stop launched its D2C exclusive brand on a few features from a sub-4 metre SUV and price it in the micro SUV range. That's what Nissan and Renault have done with the Magnite (3,994 mm, ₹5.99 lakh onward) and the Kiger (3,951 mm, ₹6.5 lakh onward), respectively. "Some carmakers take an evolutionary route, that of branding and marketing a hatchback as a micro SUV," said an analyst on the condition of anonymity. "Maruti Suzuki, for example, markets the Ignis as a 'compact urban SUV'."

JioCinema now paid service, with cheapest premium plan

Disney Star had paid ₹23.575 crore for the TV rights of the 2023 tournament for the same period. Offering the IPL free was intended to bring scale to JioCinema. They have achieved that with the first five weeks of the IPL this year, crossing over 13 billion video views," said Karan Taurani, senior vice president, research, at Mumbai-based brokerage Elara Capital, adding, "However, there is a realisation within the Viacom18 management that this model is not sustainable for long given the high cost of acquisition of content such as IPL and premium English and Hindi movies and films." While ₹9.99, said Taurani, is at the lower end of the ₹1,000-2,000 price band of premium annual plans by rivals such as Netflix, Amazon Prime and Disney+ Hotstar, it may not result in a big shift in terms of paid subscribers for JioCinema. This is because of the limited content that is part of the subscription plan. Experts short product lifecycles, wider product portfolio width and significant channel margins that are key drivers that lead to interest in D2C models.

Cong takes Karnataka in decisive victory

He added, "The best thing was that we did not fight the battle using hate or bad language. We fought with love... And the people of Karnataka have shown that this country likes love." In Karnataka, nafra ki bazaar (market of hate) has closed down and mohabbat ki dukanen (shops of love) have opened," he said. Shortly after the verdict was clear in the evening, PM Narendra Modi congratulated the Congress for its victory. "My best wishes to them in fulfilling people's aspirations. I thank all those who have supported us in the Karnataka elections. I appreciate the hard work of BJP lawmakers. We will serve Karnataka with even more vigour in the times to come," he said in a tweet.

The BJP's defeat was emphatic. As many as 12 of the 25 BJP ministers who contested the polls lost, including high-profile Congress opponents. Congress minister Dr K Sudhakar; industries minister Murugesu Nirani; water resources minister Govind Karjol and law minister JC Madhuswamy.

The Congress win in Karnataka came on the back of a concentrated campaign of the party against corruption in the BJP government amid allegations of 40% commissions for government contracts and the promise of five-year terms. These included ₹2,000 per month for women heads of households and ₹3,000 for unemployed graduates. The Congress guarantees are widely believed to have struck a chord among the electorate given the refrain of allegations of corruption against the government and discontent in a large section over the rising cost of living, including LPG prices. The Congress also targeted a perception - which it also helped build - that the BJP wasn't treating its Lingayat leaders well. They cited the cold shoulder to former CM BS Yeddyurappa, one of the party's tallest leaders, despite the Lingayat community being the bulwark of the party's support base. This is seen as chipping away at the BJP's base - the Lingayats make up nearly 7% of the population and reside in the Mumbai, Karnataka and Hyderabad Karnataka regions. Two high-profile exits of BJP Lingayat leaders - Jagdish Shetty and Anand Prasad - have also targeted on the eve of the polls also benefited the Congress, although Shetty lost in the Hubli Dharwad seat while Savadi Venkatesh lost in the Karnataka CM Basavaraj Bommai, the only winner in his home district of Haveri (six seats) in the state. The state had not been a BJP stronghold since the Congress took power in 2013. The Congress party, former CM Siddaramaiah and KPCC chief DK Shivumaru are in a close battle to be the next CM. KPCC chief DK Shivumaru broke down after registering the impact of the Congress win. "The party cadre have worked hard and it is the result of collective leadership. I thank all the leaders including Siddaramaiah," Shivumaru said.
